Why You Should Choose Composite Slate Shingles

Are you thinking of replacing your roof? Have you considered installing a slate roof? We at Vertex Roofing offer the best services in any roof installation process. We are going to show you why a composite slate roof would be a better fit for your house.

Slate Roofing

Natural slate roofs have the power to be the center of attention in a magnificent home. These slate roofs are called natural because they are made from actual stones. These stones are mined and crafted into shingles which are then carefully installed on the roof. Slate roofs are resistant to fire and water making them durable.

Disadvantages of Slate Roofing

Since the roofs are made from natural stone, the slates are more likely to become brittle over time. This makes them susceptible to cracking due to impact from being stepped on or being hit by hailstones or other debris material.

The slates also have different quality with some being softer than the rest, and hence they wear out faster. Other slates become brittle and flaky over time adding to the cost of maintenance.

Fortunately, Vertex Roofing SLC has a solution to this problem in the form of composite slate roofing.
