At Vertex Roofing, we have the expertise to handle a variety of commercial roofs. Each type of roof has its unique characteristics and advantages, and choosing the right one for your commercial building relies largely on your specific needs. Here are some of the most common types we handle:

Asphalt Roofing: Asphalt roofs are a popular choice for commercial buildings due to their durability and cost-effectiveness. They consist of asphalt shingles that are resistant to extreme weather conditions, offering excellent protection. Plus, they come in a variety of colors and styles, adding aesthetic appeal to your building.

Metal Roofing: Metal roofs are known for their longevity and minimal maintenance needs. They're extremely durable, resistant to elements like fire, wind, and hail, and they reflect sunlight, which can help keep your building cooler and reduce energy costs.

Flat Roofing: Flat roofs are common in commercial buildings due to their cost-effectiveness and practicality. They provide extra space for HVAC systems or rooftop gardens. Flat roofs require proper installation and maintenance to ensure water drainage, and our team at Vertex Roofing has the expertise to install and maintain these roofs effectively.

Single-Ply Membrane Roofing: This type of roofing is popular in commercial applications due to its durability and flexibility. It consists of sheets of rubber and other synthetics that can be ballasted, mechanically attached, or chemically adhered to insulation creating a layer of protection on your building.
